SOCIAL CHATTER AND HOME TALK

THE time has come when the folks and gossips of the past season must be put to rest. Let us turn to the church. To church! To church! And up on benched knees pray that some little deed of kindness, some good word spoken in defense of a weaker sister—this precious bit of gossip repressed—may be in part the outcome of this sacred season of prayer and fasting.

Col. Hawes' Birthday

Colonel Alexander G. Hawes, who was with John Brown at Ossawatimie, Kansas, and was one of the founders of the Prohibition club in this city, was honored last evening at a dinner given by Stephen Well at the Bohemian club. The banquet was in compliment of the twenty-fifth birthday of Colonel Hawes, who has had a remarkable career as printer, editor, traveler and soldier, and in San Francisco his reputation as a clubman and wit is extensive. Among the guests last evening was "Uncle" George Bromley, the patron saint of the Bohemian club, whose merry spirit contributed as much to the enjoyment of the dinner. Three friends of Colonel Hawes who assembled with him about the dinner table were: Raphael Well, Chauncey M. St. John, Frank Hatch of New York, George T. Bromley, Mayor E. R. Taylor, Henry Merce, consul general of France; General Lucius H. Foster, Joseph C. Campbell, General Samuel W. Backus, Thomas S. Nelson, George Maltby, Dr. F. K. Alenworth, Dr. Benjamin H. Swan, Hugh M. Burke, Captain Ronald P. Nicholson, U. S. N.; J. W. Walker, John Landers, Louis Rosen, that and Robert H. Lloyd—Call.

Col. Hawes expected to be in Honolulu this, but is detained in San Francisco as he is on the reception committee for the fleet.

Mrs. Stanley's "At Home"

One of the social events of last Saturday was the "at home" given by Mrs. William Stanley at her residence in Upper Fort Street, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Vincent H. Kiteat, and Miss Stanley, a sister of Judge Stanley, from Oahu. Mrs. Stanley, dressed in white lace, received with her guests of honor on the lawn. Both Mrs. Kiteat and Miss Stanley looked charming, the former dressed in French crinoline trimmed with Honiton lace, and the latter in yellow silk with chiffon. Lady Heron, the mother of the hostess, received the guests and directed them to the drawing room in her usual delightful fashion. She wore black silk and exquisite lace. Nasturtiums, in all the glory of their many tints, adorned the tea-table, and the land and library were adorned with these lovely blossoms. The drawing room was decorated in white and green. Mrs. Bernice Walbridge poured tea, and Mrs. Gimes presided over the coffee urn, while Mrs. J. O. Young, Mrs. William Soper, Mrs. Lange, the Misses Hartwell, and Miss Anna Danford assisted in looking after the well fare of the guests most agreeably. Mrs. Alexander Lindsay and Miss Constance Restarick sang most sweetly, and Miss Ada Rhodes and several others gave piano solos. It was a most successful and enjoyable affair and everybody was glad to see Mrs. Kiteat look so well. She responded to the greetings of her friends with much clever repartee, and kept the whole company in good spirits. Miss Stanley, a pretty girl, made a very good impression. She has all the vivacity of her race and a fascinating way of speaking English. The invited guests included: Her Majesty Queen Liliuolani, Princess Kawananakoa, Princess Kaiulani, Miss Mearns, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Frear, Mrs. Dole, Mrs. Dillingham, Mrs. B. Smith, Mrs. King, Mrs. Soper, the Misses Soper, Miss E. May, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. R. Forster, Mrs. W. Soper, Mrs. E. Mott-Smith, Mrs. Weight, Miss Patty, Mrs. S. Damon, Mrs. McKinnon, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. E. Hall, the Misses Ladd, Mrs. E. Damon, the Misses J. O. Carter, Mrs. Babbitt, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Clive Davies, Mrs. George Davies, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Walbridge, the Misses Park, Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. Lewton, Mrs. Restarick, Miss Restarick, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. McGrew, Mrs. W. A. Redfield, Mrs. J. Cook, Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Humphris, Mrs. Grimsbaum, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., Mrs. Singlehurst, Mrs. Rodick, Mrs. Bottomley, Mrs. Deering, Mrs. Cockburn, Mrs. Kenny, Mrs. Ewart, Miss Ewart, Mrs. Watermann, Mrs. Catton, the Misses Catton, Mrs. Breckons, Mrs. W. Wall, Mrs. A. Wall, Miss Winston, Mrs. Cleghorn, Miss Howlings, Mrs. Center, the Misses Center, Mrs. Allan Herbert, Mrs. English, Mrs. Mist, Miss Mist, Mrs. Hagans, Mrs. Hanneberg, Mrs. Schultzy, Mrs. Podmore, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Hallou, Mrs. Marx, Mrs. Alfred Carter, the Misses Hartwell, Mrs. Gimes, Mrs. Schaefer, Miss Schaefer, Mrs. Tenney Cook, Mrs. Seldon Kingsbury, Mrs. Judd, Mrs. Young, Miss Menstead, Mrs. W. Baird, Mrs. Ivora, Mrs. R. Scott, Mrs. Clemons, Sisters Rontice and Albertina, Miss Mist, Miss Dunlop, Miss Tagnard, Mrs. Swan, Mrs. Kouke, Mrs. E. Ross, Mrs. A. Waterhouse, Mrs. Emerson, Mrs. A. Kamen, Mrs. A. Lindsay, Mrs. Young, Miss Young, Mrs. Giff, Miss Greik, Mrs. Greik, Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Bokart, Mrs. Miki Saito, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. George Cooke, Mrs. Angus, Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. Lackland, Mrs. A. Judd, the Misses Ward, Mrs. McClelland, Mrs. R. Cooke, Mrs. Chang To Fan, Mrs. Cockburn, Mrs. Mott-Smith Cunningham, Mrs. Booth, Mrs. H. G. Danford.

After these followed the train of masquerades and revelers, each in his own fantastic guise. Miss Waltz, as a Chinese Lady, was attired in a complete Chinese costume of wonderful beauty and richness, and was awarded the prize for the handsomest lady's costume. Miss Ethel Monarrat as the "Merry Widow" aroused much curiosity and comment, the part being most excellently sustained. The "Spring Milliners," representing our different home establishments, furnished a highly amusing burlesque, and made the most fun of any of the masquerades of the evening. These parts being taken by Mrs. Blanche Walker, Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mrs. Brainerd Smith, and Mrs. R. Atkinson. These ladies showed great cleverness and ingenuity in the arrangement of their costumes, wearing the most remarkable and absurd things imaginable in the line of dresses and hats, and bearing placards on their backs purporting to advertise the firms who had furnished the goods. Mrs. Mott-Smith Cunningham with Harry Cobb, as the "Stung Sisters," were also remarkably attired, creating much fun and carrying out the parts with plenty of spirit and mirth. Mrs. Fairchild, Misses Helen and Lady Macfarlane were attired as Chinese girls, extremely well carried out both in costume and acting. As clown and jester Reynold McGrew and Louis Benton carried off their parts very well. Dr. and Mrs. Cooper, Dr. Herbert, Sam Wilder, James Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ivers, Mrs. F. M. Swanzy, Mrs. R. Ivers, Mrs. Focke and Dr. Cofer, formed an amusing contingent of black and white Pierrots and Pierrotes, the gentlemen's round appearance being caused by a crafty arrangement of barrel hoops. Mrs. Gardiner Wilder was dressed in perfect costume as a Filipino lady and Miss Annie Rose was stunning in white. Mrs. Brooke looked very charming in a doll-like Princess gown, and Ella Wheeler Wilcox, attired as a "Greek Goddess," attracted much attention. As Hamlet, Spencer Bickerton, faultlessly attired, acted the gloomy Dane to perfection. The directors of the League through whose untiring work the affair was given, are: Mr. D. Howard Hitchcock, Mrs. H. M. von Holt, Mrs. L. L. McCandless, Mrs. A. B. Tucker, Miss A. H. Parke, Mrs. L. G. Marshall, Mr. W. A. Bryan, Mrs. W. M. Graham (chairman), Miss Cordie Carde (vice chairman). The patronesses of the event, most of whom were present, were: Mrs. Walter F. Frear, Mrs. S. B. Dole, Mrs. G. R. Carter, Mrs. E. F. Dillingham, Mrs. A. G. Gartley, Mrs. E. A. Mott-Smith, Mrs. C. M. Cooke, Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. Humphris, Mrs. Gertrude P. Wilder, Mrs. Selden Kingsbury, Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., Princess Kawananakoa.

About 11:30 the judges, who consisted of Mrs. Focke, Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. F. M. Swanzy, Dr. Cofer and D. Howard Hitchcock, announced their decisions through Herald Jordan. They were as follows: Handsomest lady's costume—Miss N. F. Waltz; Chinese lady. Handsomest gentleman's costume—Mr. Reinecke; turk. Most comical lady's costume—Mrs. Blanche Walker, Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mrs. Brainerd Smith, Mrs. R. Atkinson; quartet of spring milliners. Most comical gentleman's costume—F. Warren; F. S. Kennedy; Dutchman. Best sustained lady's character—Miss Ethel Monarrat; Merry Widow. Best sustained gentleman's costume—Merle Johnson; Hindu. Most original lady's costume—Miss Phoebe Arleigh; Bougainville. Most original gentleman's costume—C. Marquis; Moneybags.

Most of the spectators were seated at the mauka end of the building, while some occupied boxes on the sides, among the latter being: Governor and Mrs. Frear, Mrs. Dillingham, former Governor and Mrs. Carter, Judge and Mrs. Stanley, Dr. McGrew, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilcox, the Princess Kawananakoa, Dr. and Mrs. Humphris, A. L. C. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Focke, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Spalding, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. D. Howard Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gartley, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Deering, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hedemann and many others. Among those who were noticed during the evening not in costume were: Princess Kawananakoa, who wore a handsome white lace dress over white crepe de chine with white ornaments in her hair. Mrs. C. W. Case Deering wore a very pretty white Princess gown trimmed with point lace. Mrs. Reed of Los Angeles looked very charming in white satin, and Mrs. Cox of Salem, Mass., was very handsome in black spangled net. Mrs. Humphris wore pink and white and looked extremely well. Mr. C. B. Cooper looked very handsome in white satin, cut Princess style. Together in one party were to be seen Mrs. Phil Winston and the Misses Winston of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Pillsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Newell and Miss Nannie Winston, all having dined as a family party at the Young hotel, going on to the ball later. The Misses Winston of Minneapolis are charming and beautiful young girls, whom everyone admires. Mr. and Mrs. Newell are well known in Honolulu, Mrs. Newell being a sister to the Misses Winston. Mrs. Pillsbury is a very attractive and cultivated woman, the daughter of Mrs. Phil Winston, while everyone known "our Miss Winston"—Miss Nannie Winston, who has been so much in Honolulu of recent years that we can rightly claim her as our very own.

THE BEAUTIFUL LAND OF NOD.

Come cuddle your head on my shoulder, dear,
Your head like a golden rod,
And we will go sailing away from here
To the beautiful Land of Nod.
Away from life's hurry, and flurry and worry,
Away from earth's shadows and gloom,
To a world of fair weather we'll float off together
Where roses are always in bloom.

Just shut up your eyes, and fold your hands,
Your hands like the leaves of a rose,
And we will go sailing to those fair lands
That never an atlas shows.
On the North and the West they are bounded by rest,
On the South and the East, by dreams;
Tis the country ideal, where nothing is real,
But everything only seems.

Just drop down the curtains of your dear eyes,
Those eyes like a bright blue-bell,
And we will sail out under starlit skies,
To the land where the fairies dwell
Down the river of sleep, our barges shall sweep,
Till it reaches that mystical Isle
Which no man hath seen, but where all have been.
And there we will pause a while,
I will croon you a song as we float along.
To that shore that is blessed of God,
Then ho! for that fair land, we're off for that rare land,
The beautiful Land of Nod.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A San Francisco paper says: Bishop da Silva of Lisbon, a prince of the royal blood and a relative of the late King Carlos of Portugal, returned here yesterday on the liner Korea from Honolulu, where his visit was cut short by the news of the tragedy which placed King Manuel on the throne of Portugal. He left Lisbon in August, 1906, on a mission to visit the Portuguese settled in this country, Hawaii and Mexico. He was in Honolulu at the time of the assassination of the king and crown prince, and immediately canceled all his engagements. He stayed long enough, however, to officiate on February 13 at a service dedicated to the memory of his dead relatives.

"Do not ask me to speak about that dreadful tragedy. It is too terrible," said the bishop yesterday. "The new king, whom I know well, is a splendid young man and will be a good monarch. But, please, let us talk about my work. The other subject unnerves me."

The bishop will visit a number of Portuguese settlements in southern California, and after that will visit Mexico. From there he will return to Portugal.

Of Interest to their many friends is the following:

Miss Alice Deming's marriage to Dr. T. A. Rottanzi took every one by surprise, because when the engagement was announced a fortnight ago not a single word was said of any such plan. Every one vaguely said "Easter," just as people always do when they haven't the slightest idea of the date set, and no one was at all prepared for the sudden wedding. There has been much sickness in the Deming family, however, and, like every one else, they were anxious to leave town rather earlier than usual this summer, so the marriage was decided upon without further delay. Miss Deming—one of whose characteristics is promptness of action—telephoned a few friends called on a few relatives, and the preparations were made. Late Wednesday afternoon the young couple were married by Father Woods, and although the preparations had been hurried it was a pretty and impressive little wedding. Masses of St. Joseph lilies and dozens of potted palms made the simple little church look its very best, and the last of the brilliant day's sunshine poured in through the high windows. Good wishes and farewells followed the ceremony, and Dr. Fottanzi and his bride started at once on their wedding journey. Dr. Rottanzi, by the way, is the man who won the everlasting gratitude of mankind (and womankind too, whatever they may say to the contrary) by putting through the legislature the bill that forbids hats in theaters. This really means more to the world than does many a bill that at first glance might seem much more important.

Mrs. Walter Frear's chowder luncheon on Saturday last was a most enjoyable affair. The day was a perfect one, and the table, set upon the lawn overlooking Pearl Harbor, gave an exquisite harmony of color for the eye to look upon. The conversation, led by Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, was very merry. The guests included Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Emmons of Seattle, Mrs. Emmons of Portland, Mrs. Robert Wilcox, Mrs. Cummings of Boston, Mrs. Cox of Salem, Mass., Mrs. A. Knudsen, Mrs. Sanford B. Dole, Mrs. Will Whitney, Mrs. von Holt, Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Mrs. Onstead, Mrs. Hugo Frear, Mrs. Philip Frear.

"Arcadia" was again the scene of a very pleasant reception, it being the first Monday of the month, the Frear's usual reception day for the public. Governor and Mrs. Frear received in the drawing-room and they were assisted by Mrs. Edwards, of Seattle, and Mrs. Augustus Knudsen. Mrs. Frear wore a pale green frock of mull and a jade dog collar, the one which Mrs. May Mott-Smith Cunningham designed, and she carried a bunch of magnolias. There were many callers during the afternoon, many old friends coming to greet the Governor's sister, Mrs. E. F. Woodward, who with her two daughters, was passing through in the Korea. The same large flag decorated the entrance to the house, and palms, ferns and begonias made the rooms attractive. At the tea-table Mrs. B. L. Marx poured coffee and tea Mrs. Fred Lowrey, Mr. Stanley Livingston's magnificent voice, gave great pleasure. He was accompanied most artistically by his wife.

Miss Mary Keeney, one of the San Francisco belles, gave a dinner for Miss Margaret Hyde-Smith and Harold Dillingham which was a most elaborate affair, a week previous to the wedding, and Mrs. William Mago Newhall gave a large dinner the same week for the popular young couple.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, who has been so much entertained, was the guest-of-honor at a small tea on Wednesday given by Mrs. James Castle. She was in her usual brilliant mood and it was a pleasure to listen to her wise and witty sayings.

Mrs. Hatch gave a luncheon on the 17th to Mrs. Bourke Cockran, Mrs. Brlek, Mrs. Ross Thompson, Mrs. Isabel Strong, Mrs. Lamar. Mrs. Strong is a step-daughter of the late Robert Louis Stevenson, and is very well known in Honolulu.

The announcement of Dr. James R. Judd's marriage to Miss Louise Marshall, of Chicago, came as a great surprise to his relatives and friends. Dr. and Mrs. Judd expect to arrive here in the China.

On the 26th, Mr. and Mrs. Hatch, who are giving a series of dinners, entertained Senator Gallinger, Mr. and Mrs. Littlefield, Admiral and Mrs. Barker and Admiral and Mrs. Stevens.

Everybody is glad to see Burton Holmes about town. He is stopping at the Young Hotel. As an explorer, writer, and traveler he is justly celebrated.

Mr. Morris, of Buffalo, N. Y., a guest at the Alexander Young Hotel, gave a dinner on Sunday evening in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Humphris.

Canon Usbourne and family have returned to the Rectory after a pleasant sojourn at "The Cliffs," their Diamond Head residence.

General and Mrs. John McClellan have engaged the old rooms of the C. W. C. Deerings at the Moana hotel.

Miss Helene Irwin was hostess of the Gayety dance, a fashionable event of San Francisco.

Miss Rice and Miss Mary Krou have arrived from Kaula.
